

Wood Bed Rails: Construction and Materials

Wood rails offered by Carolina Furniture Works are made with multiple layers of engineered laminated wood. Wood layers are compressed in a heated glued process creating a strong bond. Bed rail tops are fully sanded with smooth trimmed edges.

There are hooks on the end of each wood rail (sold in pairs), allowing you to attach to both a headboard and footboard. Wood rails are offered in various sizes with unfinished wood slats (twin to king). Bed rails are stained or painted and ready to use with one of our matching series.

We suggest using proper center supports with queen or king wood bed rails in addition to any support slats that come with each pair of wood rails.

Always make sure you are purchasing the proper size required to set up your bed, and support your mattress and foundation, you don't want any surprises.
